OUR SERVICE FLAG

Charlie Chaplin has gone to the front as a Canadian soldier.

They used to tell it to the marines now the marines are telling it to the Germans.—Elizabethtown News.

If the Marines can fight on land like they are fighting, we would like to see them get a chance on the sea.

The Tennessean had eight weddings reported for Thursday and six of the grooms were soldiers.

We now have 157,000 negro soldiers and we still believe about 15,700 ought to be sent down to police Mexico.

The Germans will never again have a numerical advantage over the Allies. Their best chance was lost when they were stopped before Amiens. The Allies are now so confident that it is hard to hold them back, especially the Americans.

The Kentuckian will give a $5 Thrift Stamp to every boy or girl who will bring in four fully paid yearly subscribers at $5.00, in the city, or six $3.00 to be sent by mail.

The commander of the U-boat 159 in one of the German submarines operating off the Atlantic coast, has been identified as Captain Neustadt, who served five years as gunners' mate in the United States Navy, according to affidavits of officers of schooners while the submarine sank.

News print paper stocks on hand at the end of May were equal to about one week's production, said a summary of the paper industry issued by the Federal Trade Commission. The stocks amounted to 26,463 net tons. In the last week of the month fourteen mills were idle, most of them engaged in making repairs.

Frank Balhooter, a Hungarian employed in a war industry plant was arrested when a large quantity of poison was found upon him. He is said to have admitted that the poison was intended for soldiers. One week's subscription to the Kentuckian will be given to the person who sends in the best answer to the question, "What ought to be done with him?"

The Crown Prince's drive against the Northeastern approaches to Paris has come to a deadhalt. From Thursday to Friday saw one more desperate flickering up of offensive action just west of the Oise river, but it was quickly snuffed out by the French 75s and machine guns. The only gain has been the wiping out of a bend in the line at Noyon, while ground has been lost at other points.

FROM BERLIN.

One of the marines in the recent action about Chateau was Max Krause, from Berlin, Wisconsin.

THE EMBLEM OF HUMAN MERCY

By SAMUEL GOMPERS

The Red Cross is an emblem typifying human mercy and sympathy. Its mission to relieve physical pain and minister to mind and body has given it a place deep in the hearts of all our people. For those whose dear ones are in places of great danger it is a comfort to know that the American Red Cross is performing more effective service on a larger scale than ever before.

In addition to serving our enlisted forces, it is assisting in the work of civil relief among our allies whose soil is being devastated by the fighting.

Thus the Red Cross is helping to interpret the constructive spirit of our Republic which holds sacred human life and the ideals it seeks.

As time goes on the scope of the work of the Red Cross in Europe will increase in order that the organization may meet the demands that will be made upon it. It must receive the full and hearty support of the American people. It is only through such an agency that we can be assured relief and necessary ministrations to our young men forming our military force.

It is my sincere desire that adequate funds will be secured for the work of the Red Cross.

Samuel Gompers

THE RED CROSS SPIRIT SPEAKS

By JOHN H. FINLEY.

I kneel behind the soldiers' trench
I walk with shambles' smear and stench
The dead I mourn.
I bear the stretcher and I bend
O'er Sammy, Pierre and Jack and mend
What shells have torn.

I go wherever men may dare, I go wherever woman's care
And love can live.
Wherever strength and skill can bring
Surcease to human suffering
Or solace give.

I am your pennies and your pounds;
I am your bodies on their rounds
Of pain afar;
I am you, doing what you would
If you were only where you could—
Your avatar.

The cross which on my arm I wear,
The flag which o'er my breast I bear,
Is but the sign
Of what you'd sacrifice for him
Who suffers on the hellish rim
Of war's red line.

Newest Devices of Surgery For Our Wounded Soldiers

Nitrous Oxide and Fluoroscope at Hand to Give American Wounded All Chance in World.

The best is none too good for the wounded American soldier. That is the Red Cross idea. The minute science finds an improvement in surgery it is adopted in the Red Cross army hospitals, which are models of up-to-the-minute completeness.

This fact is vividly emphasized in a recent news dispatch from Reginald Wright Kauffman, author of "The House of Bondage." Kauffman had been allowed to accompany a badly wounded friend into the operating room:

"Come on," said the interne; "your friend's in there. He's about played out; can't stand chloroform or ether. Got to give him nitrous oxide."

"I knew that for a patient whose resistance has been diminished the difference between the old anaesthetics and this new one is frequently the difference between life and death, but I also knew that nitrous oxide is not on our army list and that no supplies existed a year ago in France."

"The Red Cross has put up a plant here," explained the interne. He opened a door. Bill lay on the operating table, and the surgeons were at work. "They're after that abdominal wound," the interne told me. "They're working with the fluoroscope."

"Above Bill's upturned feet and about a yard away stood an X-ray apparatus. Its flash piercing light fell on a disk of metal that an orderly held over Bill's bared waist. The violet rays passed through the disk and into the patient's abdominal cavity. The surgeon's eyes followed them through the metal and into the flesh. His knife plying fingers worked under the disk and deep in the wounded man's belly. He cut with that solid plate for a window."

"He can see what he's after before he gets started," my guide exulted, "and if he overlooks any shell fragments there is a magnetic contrivance that sounds a buzzer when he gets near them."

"It would be all right, they told me. Thanks to the fluoroscope and the nitrous oxide, a stay here under treatment and then a rest at one of the Red Cross convalescent camps by the seaside would fit Bill for a return to the trenches."

SAVINGS STAMPS FOR PRIZES.

The department of agriculture heartily endorses a suggestion of a Louisiana chamber of commerce, that all premiums given to prize-winners at agricultural fairs be paid in war savings stamps. A recommendation to that effect has been sent to federal and state officials all over the country. So far, the idea has met with hearty approval. There is no reason why it should not be followed everywhere by the associations in charge of state county and other fairs.

And why restrict it to fairs? Why shouldn't prizes offered in any form of competition be paid in this way? Thrift Stamps would surely be as acceptable as anything else to the winners at card parties. They might be offered, too, as prizes for juvenile games, for various kinds of sporting affairs, for newspaper contests and all sorts of things. Most people would doubtless prefer them to the sort of objects ordinarily given as prizes, or even to cash; and Uncle Sam's war fund would prosper accordingly.—Owensboro Messenger.
